INTRODUCTION.

This volume of Rolls is published under the provisions of a recent Special Act of the General Assembly making an annual appropriation of one thousand dollars to the Connecticut Historical Society ; one of the purposes specifically named in this act being "to publish its rolls of soldiers in the revolutionary and colonial wars, not heretofore printed." Another provision is that the Society "shall deposit in the State Library three hundred copies of each catalogue, report, or other work published" under this act, to be disposed of by the State Librarian. This is the second important work issued under the provisions of this act.

At a meeting of the Standing Committee of the Society held on the twentieth of last May it was "Voted that a volume of Rolls of Connecticut Men who served in the French and Indian War 1755-1762 be prepared and published," and the librarian as editor of the Society's publications was directed to undertake the work without delay. This volume is the result of that vote. It was anticipated that all of the rolls of the Connecticut men in that war could be published in one volume, but as the printing progressed it was found necessary, in order to make a volume of convenient size and to conform to the size of the previous volumes of the series, to divide the work into two volumes. It is expected that the second volume will be issued without delay.

Some fifteen years ago the old Seymour house on Governor street, Hartford, which had been the home of the Seymour family for many years, passed by sale into other hands. The heirs who had the disposition of the property first removed from the house everything that was considered as of personal interest or as having special value ; the miscellaneous odds and ends remaining were sold to a local second-hand dealer. Among other things secured by this dealer was a large and miscellaneous assortment of ancient manuscripts gathered by him, it is said, partly from old trunks in the garret and partly from an old desk and some boxes stored in an outbuilding. The lot had scarcely reached the dealer's store before it was seen and purchased, without having been examined by either party to the trade, by the late Judge Sherman Wolcott Adams of Hartford, for a sum but little above the paper-stock price at which the dealer had secured it. Judge Adams' antiquarian instinct led him to believe that a collection from such a prominent family would probably contain documents of great historical value, and in this he was not mistaken. It is not the purpose of this introductory sketch to describe this collection of manuscripts except so far as it relates to the work in hand. Among the documents were about two hundred and thirty-five original muster and pay rolls of Connecticut men serving in the French and Indian War 1755-1761. A well-known Hartford book collector, since deceased, became, in some way now unknown, associated with Judge Adams in the examination and perhaps in the ownership of the collection. Through him these rolls were offered for sale to the State at a round price. The late Charles J. Hoadly, the State Librarian, refused to purchase them, claiming that they were a part of the archives and were State property, and more than intimating that, if necessary, steps would be taken to obtain possession of the rolls by due process of law. Some time later Judge Adams and Dr. Hoadly, who were the best of friends, came to an agreement by which, after Dr. Hoadly had examined them, the State paid a nominal sum, said to have been fifty dollars, for the rolls, and Judge Adams relinquished all claim to them, and they were placed with the other archives in the State Library. They have remained together as a distinct collection and are kept separate from the few other rolls of this war which were previously among the archives in the Library. How these rolls came into the possession of the Seymour family is not known. It is probable that at the close of the war they remained in the possession of some official and thus descended in the family from one generation to another, and had never been actually in the State's possession. When received at the Library, these rolls were in a very dilapidated condition. Later, after having been assorted and arranged, they were repaired in a manner which, while not entirely satisfactory, has done much to preserve them from further injury. Since they were copied for this work, the rolls for 1755 and 1756 have been mounted by the Emory process and each year bound in a handsome and convenient volume. In printing this volume these rolls, out of respect for Judge Adams, have been designated as the "Adams Papers."

The majority of the rolls printed in this volume and of those which will appear in the succeeding volume are from these Adams Papers in the State Library. In addition there are rolls from the series lettered "War," 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, among the bound volumes of archives in the State Library, a number from the archives of the Connecticut Historical Society, a few from private sources, and several from the New York Historical Society's Collections for 1891. Items have also been gleaned from a volume of army accounts 1755-1758 in the Comptroller's Office, from the printed series of the Records of the Colony of Connecticut, and from the file of the Connecticut Gazette in the Yale University Library.

The greater part of the copy for this volume was prepared by the editor, and the proof of every roll has been read by him with the original manuscript. The index cards, which were written by Miss Alice M. Gay of Hartford, were also all compared by him with the printed sheets before they were printed.

The names and official positions of general, regimental, and company officers, gathered from scattered sources, have been arranged for convenience at the beginning of each campaign, regiment, and company. So far as could be ascertained, the residence of each officer is given. Where the residence does not appear in the records but has been added by the editor, it is enclosed in brackets. In a number of instances where there were two or more rolls of the same company covering the same period, only one has been printed in full and a reference made to the others.

This work does not profess to be more than a list of men who served as soldiers, with an account of their service and such further records as will aid in identifying them. Consequently much has been omitted in the printing of these rolls which has appeared irrelevant to the object in view. It has seemed outside the scope of the work to give the amount of bounty received, the sum per month or the total amount of pay received, the number of months and days in service when dates of both enlistment and discharge are given, and numerous similar items. As the location of the manuscript of each roll is given, the curious can find such items as occur by reference to the originals.

Headings and indorsements of rolls as well as all names have been spelled exactly as in the original manuscripts, but the abbreviations for months have been made uniform, ditto marks have been introduced and a few variations made in arrangement for the sake of uniformity. In indexing the volume names have, in general, been given their recognized spelling instead of following the manifold variations which are found in the rolls. But all important variations of surnames that appear are given in parentheses at the beginning of the index of each name, while occasional cross-references call attention to the occurrence of more than one recognized spelling.

Note: The General Assembly in March, 1755, ordered the raising of 1,000 men, to be divided into two regiments of six companies each, and empowered the governor to take measures for the raising of 500 additional men should it become necessary. This additional force was raised about the end of August in consequence of letters received from General Johnson. The companies were added to the two regiments already raised, probably three companies to each regiment. At about the same time the Assembly authorized the raising of two additional regiments, each to consist of 750 men, divided into nine companies.

Jno. Swadle Drum<sup>r</sup>

[State Library, Adams Papers.]

Cap<sup>t</sup> Joshua Abells Company

[State Library, Adams Papers.]

Note: This roll contains no information not in the previous roll.

SIXTH COMPANY—CAPT. GROSVENOR.

John Grosvenor [of Pomfret], Captain, Aug.

Nehemiah Lyon, First Lieutenant, Aug.

Israel Putnam [of Pomfret], Second Lieutenant, Aug.

[Colonial Records.]

Note: The above are the officers as appointed by the General Assembly, whether they served as appointed is not known. It is probable that Putnam did not serve as Second Lieutenant in this company for he was Captain of a company as early as Sept. John Grosvenor was a member of the Assembly when the appointment was made, so it is probable that he accepted it.

SEVENTH COMPANY—CAPT. PHELPS.

Ichabod Phelps of Hebron, Captain. [State Library, War 5, 286.]

James Gates, First Lieutenant.

Francis Fenton, Jr., Second Lieutenant.

Note : The General Assembly in February, 1756, resolved to raise 2500 men, officers included, for the coming campaign ; this force to be divided into four regiments of eight companies each. In October following, in consequence of a letter from the Earl of Loudon, the Assembly resolved to raise eight additional companies, to be added to the four regiments already raised as the ninth and tenth companies. No evidence has been found to show that these additional companies were in service and it is probable that they were not raised on account of the lateness of the season. Half-pay from December 17, 1755, to the date of reenlistment was allowed to officers and soldiers who had served in the previous campaign and a gratuity of one months pay was granted to officers and soldiers who had served in garrison during the winter.
